COMMENTS:

Tori says: About a year or so again, at the FAME celebrate their milestone anniversary and for the first time saw the duo "The War & Treaty" and I've been a fan ever since. Lately, I've been watching interviews of them and the more I hear them talk and sing, the more I really like what they're doing. Our people are so innovative. Thanks to Chris Gardenhire for turning me on to Jeff Washington. He brings us real blues. Appreciate all of you guys for the music that we are so blessed to air here at WZZA, the Soul of the Shoals. A couple of years ago WZZA took a bus of our listeners and supporters down to Montgomery to the Equal Justice Initiative (EJI) Legacy Museum. It was a searing and for some an emotional experience. Some of our folks had to step away for a minute to absorb and be able to handle it. EJI has three different sites in Montgomery: Legacy Museum, National Memorial for Peace and Justice, and The Justice and Freedom Monument Sculpture Park. Now a group of folks are going back down to Montgomery on a day trip to visit all three. No matter where you live, it's worth your time to go there. We need to know our history so that we can protect our future. Tori Bailey
