COMMENTS:

Tori says: Making progress on my resolutions! Have been on my treadmill! Yay me! I ate oranges and apples (and yogurt) so that covers the fruits. I've been spending time with loved ones. I've realized that nutty folks are just going to be nutty so I'm just meeting them where they are. Licenses for cbd are going to be more available. I've got friends with gardens. I'm looking for somewhere interesting to travel to. I've opened a savings account. Now we just gotta figure out what to invent. The book notes are being organized so watch out cuz you may be a featured character. That's my dozen while I'm doing my new mix for 2026. As for the music, Reese is loving that song by J. Brown titled "Are You Still Mad" and says the female vocalist really makes the song. He asked me if I am a Lenny Kravitz fan because we've played several of his songs over the past year. The songs have been good, and we were glad to have something that our listeners could groove to. (And no it's not just cuz the brother is fine.) I'm loving Ann Nesby and how she uses her voice in multiple genres of music. And speaking of jumping genres, how about NeYo doing that country song? I laughed when I heard the song and saw the video. Walt Love's Gospel Traxx got some extra play on WZZA. Happy New Year Darrin "Postman" Florence! Luv, T
